

THE PICAYUNE'S WEATHER PROPHECY.

Oh, I am a lover! I'm Love's very self!
Ah!

There!

Sweet maid have a care!

Of Froggy beware!

Don't trust me too far! I'm a mischievous elf,

And I'm awfully killing! You'll find to your cost

That in less than a minute your heart
will be lost;

▲ And the Picayune Frog will be your Valentine.

"Sweet!

Mine!

Forever I'm thine!

'Thine own Valentine!"

I say to each one of you creatures divine.

Washington, Feb. 13. - Forecast: For Louisiana and East Texas: Rain or snow, and probably slightly colder; east winds.

For Mississippi: Local rain or snow; variable winds.

The following telegram was received from the chief of the weather bureau, Washington, D. C.:

"Hoist information signals at New Orleans, Mobile and Pensacola. Storm developing in west gulf. Northeast gales.
HARRINGTON."

Almanac for New Orleans To-Day.

Sun rises, 6:41 a.m. Moon rises, 11:37 p.m.

Sun sets, 5:45 p.m.]